

03 Living Arrangements

Eligibility for benefits is determined by first identifying who lives together in the home.

Everyone who lives in the home must be listed on the application. Their ages and relationships must be indicated. Verify living arrangements ONLY WHEN QUESTIONABLE.

When living arrangements are questionable, advise the PI that living arrangements must be verified.

Document the following on CADO:

- Everyone living in the home
- Explanation of how living arrangements are determined
- Explanation of any questionable information and the verification requested to resolve the discrepancy

Participants may be separated from their family responsibilities for the purpose of employment. When this is the situation, include the participant who is away from home because of employment. These participants may only be considered as separate when they have established other permanent residential addresses.
