H   QCRC Result

When all representatives agree, no further action is needed.

When all representatives do not agree, the PST Representative immediately schedules a meeting between the OPE Administrator and the FAA Program Administrator.

When the issue cannot be resolved at that point, the PST Representative immediately schedules a meeting for the DBME Assistant Director, OPE Administrator and FAA Program Administrator at which point a final decision is made.

(For procedures following issuance of the QC-100, see QCRC Additional Information)

When the district disagrees with the QC findings, see QC Protest.

When the district agrees that the error exists, but that the error occurred due to something that is beyond their control, see QC District X.

NOTE   The QCRC process does not decide the outcome of District X errors.

The QCRC does not provide solutions or make recommendations when statewide impact is not evident. The FAA Program Administrator tracks the QCRC recommendations and issues responses to the QCRC and FAA staff.
