

C AFIP Enrollment Process - AFIP Portable Units

AFIP portable units should be used when conducting home visits and itinerant site interviews. There are a few differences between an AFIP portable unit and an AFIP local office workstation. The differences are as follows:

- AFIP portable units do not include a phone line and printer.
- AFIP portable units require the use of a laptop PC.
- AFIP portable units require a manual unspooling process to download the spooled fingerprint imaging records to the AFIP workstation.
- AFIP portable units can produce an AFIP enrollment receipt back at the local office once the records are downloaded to the AFIP workstation.
