

.05 Disagreement of Work Activity

The participant may not agree with the work activity, but must continue to work. Advise them to contact the work program provider to review the employability plan and work placement options. The following apply:

- The participant is allowed time away from the work assignment to meet with the case manager. The meeting is to try and resolve any disputes.
- The participant may miss one day of work in the work cycle. Arrangements must be made in advance or good cause must be established when more than one day is missed. When the parent fails to do so, they are considered to have failed completion of a work assignment. (See Fail to Comply Work Pgm, TPEP)
- Reinstatement is not allowed in a work cycle once a participant has been disqualified for that work cycle.
