

C GA - Referral for Potential Benefits - Verification of Application

The participant has the primary responsibility for applying for and providing proof of the application.

To shorten the period needed to process the GA application, encourage the participant to provide proof of the application and interview for other benefits, within ten work days of the FAA interview.

Upon completion of the RSDI or SSI application, a receipt is provided by SSA confirming that an application has been received and the interview completed.

NOTE Proof of the RSDI or SSI application is a GA eligibility requirement. GA participants must provide a copy of the Receipt For Your Claim For RSDI/SSI as proof that the RSDI or SSI application has been completed. When a Receipt For Your Claim For RSDI/SSI is not provided by SSA, advise the participant to ask for one.

The following may be used to verify that application is made for other benefits:

- Referral for Benefits (FA-009) form
- Print outs
- Award letters
- Other written communication
